

AMERICAN ELK / WAPITI

Cervus canadensis

North America

Elk (wapiti) are members of the deer family. Antlers are shed in the late winter, and new growth begins immediately, sometimes growing one inch per day. They reach their full length prior to the autumn breeding season.