

FALLOW DEER

Dama dama

Europe and Western Asia

Fallow deer differ from other true deer in that their antlers resemble those of a moose more than a deer or elk. They are spotted their entire life and come in many different color variations.