

GREEN-WINGED MACAW

Ara chloroptera

South America

These birds spend much of the day feeding in the tree tops. They mainly nest inside hollow trees high above the ground. When vocal, the calls can be heard from a great distance echoing through the forest.