

LADY AMHERST PHEASANT

Chrysolophus amherstiae

Southwestern China

These high dwelling birds are found in pairs or small groups. During the winter, they often migrate in groups of 20-30 down to the foothills. When feeding, they wade in shallow water searching for invertebrates.