

RACCOON

Procyon lotor

North America

Raccoons are nocturnal and prefer to live in wooded areas near water; however, they are very adaptable and are also found in suburbs and cities. They do not hibernate but will become less active during very cold weather.