

ROSY-BILLED POCHARD

Netta peposaca

Southern South America

Males have a bright rosy-red bill with a bulbous basal shield that increases in size and color during the breeding season. They are closely related to other diving ducks, like the Redheads, but spend much more time on land.